Notice concerning Execution of Absorption-type Company Split Agreement for Company Split of the Company's Medical Device Business to Wholly-owned Subsidiary

As described in the "Notice concerning Company Split (simplified absorption-type split) of the Company's Medical Device Business to Wholly-owned Subsidiary" dated March 31, 2021, Sumitomo Bakelite Co., Ltd. has announced that the Company would succeed its medical device business to its wholly-owned subsidiary, Kawasumi Laboratories, Inc. ("Kawasumi Laboratories"), through a company split (the "Company Split"). Since the Company executed the absorption-type company split agreement for the Company Split today, the Company hereby announces as follows.

Certain items which was "To be determined" in the disclosure dated March 31, 2021 or items updated from such disclosure are underlined.

As the Company Split is a simplified absorption-type split with a wholly-owned subsidiary, some disclosure items and/or details are omitted.

1. Purpose of the Company Split

The Company defines a healthcare field as one of its creation areas. In the medical device business of the field, the Company has been aiming at expanding the business scale by launching advanced products into the market of and implementing active development in the growing area of the minimally invasive treatment such as endovascular treatment and endoscopic treatment. On the other hand, the competitive environment surrounding the recent medical device industry becomes intense. To overcome such environment, based on the recognition that it was necessary for the Company to not only make self-help efforts but also form a business alliance with the partner with whom the Company can share its growth strategies, the Company executed a capital and business alliance agreement on March 2019 with Kawasumi Laboratories who defined the minimally invasive treatment as the growing area same as the Company. Furthermore, in order to promote the collaboration between both companies quickly and effectively, as of October 30, 2020, Kawasumi Laboratories has become a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company after the tender offer for the shares in Kawasumi Laboratories and demand for a share cash-out to the shareholders of Kawasumi Laboratories.

Thereafter, the Company and Kawasumi Laboratories considered optimization for the business expansion through a mutual exchange meeting and sectional committee. As the result, both companies has reached a consensus that integration of the medical device business between both companies leads to the early generation and maximization of group synergy.

Through the Company Split, both companies expand the medical device business further by strengthening and accelerating R&D of next-generation medical device products such as those in the field of the minimally invasive treatment on which both companies focus and improving business efficiency including production and sales structure, and aim at increasing presence in the medical device industry in the future.

2. Outline of the Company Split
